Comptroller Loew's investigation of the Civil District Court methods assumed a new phase yesterday upon the examination of John T. Carroll, Clerk of the Seventh District Court. Assistant Corporation Counsel Clarkson produced this letter, addressed to the Comptroller and signed " M. Porkout, 964 Third avenue:"

Nov. 12, 1686. Dean Sin: You have undertaken to investigate the civil courts and their mode of doing business. If you are really carrying on this investigation for the purpose of patting at all the facts, you are nursuing a very necollar arse. I hereby declare without fear of contradiction at the marshals of this city have to pay from 50 cents to $1 for every dispossess taken out in the court of this city, with two exceptions. If you want any ev dence of that fact, you can summon the various mar-shals and interrogate them on that subject. I am quite well satisfied that you know of the am quite well sainsied that you know of the existence of this abuse of nower by the Jadges for the past few years. We will take the Fifty-seventh street court, for instance. A Mr. Nylvester No-lan, who now holds a position in the County Clerk's office, was what they call a disposees clerk there. Upon this appoint mention, and a Mr. Baiser, who was a court officer under Justice Ambross Monell, resigned his position as such to take the one vacated by Mr. Noisa. The marshals who belong in that district have to pay Mr. Hauer 50 cents for every dispossess taken out. Marshals outside of the district have to pay for the said outside of the district have to pay for the said outside of the district have to pay for the said outside of the district have to pay for the said outside of the district have to pay for the facts on the substantiated by Marshals Lowery, Goldatein, Goode, and Harrison. Now, if these facts are not brought out by you when you reach the Fifty-seventh street court, it will lead those who know the facts to believe that you are not conducting these these who are demanding money which they are not considered to as there is no law authorizing the collection of fees in such cases in such manner, and can only be done with the connivance of the Judge.

of fees in such cases in such manner, and can only be done with the commissance of the Judge.

Clerk Carroll read the letter with some surprise. He said that Mr. Bauer was not an officer of the court, and had declined to take the place of interpreter because he would have to pass a civil service examination. He was iantor of the Court House for a time.

Charles H. Schampain, a lawyer, backed up the alignations of Mr. Porkout. He said that in November just he applied for a precept to dispossess a tenant named Sharkey, and that he only got it after paying $1 to a man who stood behild a railing in the Cierk's office. He said he was told on his application for a dispossess warrant that he could not have it, and that the Judge had ordered that warrants should be given only to marshals, and he was informed that the marshals would do the work for a reasonable sum.

Comptroller Loewand that this was a serious matter, and the first direct evidence bearing Comptroller Loewsaid that this was a serious matter, and the first direct evidence bearing on corruption. He directed that suit shall be begun at once against Clerk Louis P. Bruns, Clerk of the First District Court, who has not made returns for October. Clerk Carroll denied that Bauer was a dispossess clerk, but admitted that Bauer was acting for the marshals in his court. The Comptroller will continue his investigation.

JEALOUS OF HIS WIFE.

Young Jacobson Says she Filrted—She Says that Only her Child Saved her from Suicide. Warren A. Jacobson, Jr., cashier of a Broadway drinking saloon, is trying to get an absolute divorce from his young wife, Carrie M., to whom he was married on Feb. 21, 1882. at Newark, when she was but 16. His suit is now pending in the Common Pleas. Mrs. Jacobson petitioned the Court to compel her husband to contribute to her support, and Judge Bookstaver yesterday gave her $7 a week alimony. Young Jacobson asks the Court to put in his custody their four-year-old week alimony. Young Jacobson asks the Court to put in his custody their four-year-old child Edith. He makes charges of infidelity against his wife, which she absolutely denies.

She says that he was insanely jealous, employed detectives to watch her movements, and when he was absent from home sent district messengers to the house to see if she was there. At night, when returning home, if he saws chair or sofa out of place, she stated he would become greatly excited and make serious charges against her, at times threatened to kill her, and struck her with his fists, knocking her down. Several summers ago they spent a few weeks at Niagara Falls. They were in their room one evening when music was heard in their room one evening when music was heard in the parior, and she suggested that they go down and listen to it. He objected, and beat her with a trunk strap. She left him in August, 1885, broken down in health, and returned to her mother's home, taking her child with her. Her father had died and her mother was poor, so that she was obliged to pawn her jewelry to support herself and child. She concluded her affidavit by saying that only the thought of her child saved her from the temptation to put an end to her life.

The husband put in an answering affidavit denying his wife's charges, and declaring that he never threatened her life or struck her. He explains the Niagara Falls episode by saying that he locked her in the room and sat un all night on the watch to k-ep her away from an actor and actors whose acquaintance she had made on the cars. He declares that she flirted with severy man she met who was tolerably good leoking. He says he is a noor man.

Judge Bookstaver, in awarding the wife alimony, said: "The plaintiff has had sufficient money to hire private and irrasponsible detectives to hound his wife and spy out all her movements. I think therefore, there can be no hardship in requiring him to pay alimony and a reasonable counsel fee."

Wires Gaing Under Ground.

The Subway Commissioners ordered yesterday that the Fifty-eighth street subway be laid in sphalt with zine-lined ducts, work to be begun a week Company, asked for authority to build a subway in 128th street, from Third to Fourth avenue, and thence to the Harlem River, to contain six iron tubes, three inches in Harlem River, to contain six fron tubes, three inches in diameter, laid in hydraulic cement. He said this was saked for by the Western Union Telegraph Company, and that on its completion they would put their cables in it. The wors was approved and ordered built. Engineer Beckwith of the Metropolitan Telephone Company said that company had ordered cables for sixth avenue, and would remove their overhead system in that evenue and make use of the sunway. The Commission adjourned until Friday at 3 P. M. Judge Ingraham has denied the application of the New York Underground Telegraph Company for an injunction to restrain the Police Commissioners from interfering with the embloyees of the company in diginar up Broadway without a permit from the Sulway Commission. He holds that the Court has no jurisdiction to restrain the police from arresting persons charged with the commission of an offence.

Lunatics are Not Wild Beasts. Dr. John C. Shaw, the Medical Superintendent of the Flatbush Lunatic Asvium to Kings counts for nine years, has tendered his resignation, to take effect on Feb. I. In his letter to the Charities Commis-sioners Dr. Shaw says:

'Nine years ago the treatment of the insane at Flat-"Nine years ago the treatment of the insane at Flat-bush was still characterized by a system of restraint, which was the last legacy of the ignorance, cowardice, and brutality of former times. When I assumed control of the institution the regn of the strait jacket was still undisputed, and the cificacy of the 'muft' alto-gather unimpeached. When a bonnire of the final ve-tiges of barbarity and fear was built in front of the asylum, it was supposed that loss of life was being read-lessly invited. Subsequent events have proved that much was gained and nothing lost by remembering that innatics are not wild beasts."

Dr. Shaw will practise medicine in Brooklyn, making a specialty of nervous diseases.

Father Pfracagio Succeeds Zilliox as Abbot. The election in St. Mary's Benedictine Abbey in Newark yesterday resulted in the choice of the Rev. Father Hilary Pfraengle as Abbot, to succeed the Rev. Father Hilary Pfraengle as Abbot, to succeed the late Abbot Zilliox, who resigned recently on account of ill health. Arch Abbot Wimmer of St. Vincent's, Pennsylvania, presided, and the voice were cast by fourtieum monks connected with the abbox. The new Abbot was born in Butler, Pa., on May 9, 1843, and he joined the Benedictine Order in 1812. He was ardsined a priest in 1866, and afterward went to Rount, where the title of D. D. was conferred upon him at 80 freura. On returning to this contary he was apprinted professor of theology at 81 Vincent's College, and in 1872 was elected a director of that institution.

SUICIDE IN THE HOTEL EVERETT. John Nicholson's Children Caunce Wake him and the Porter Finds him Manging.

John Nicholson, a Canadian, 45 years old, eft his wife at 22 Pulaski street, Brooklyn, on Sept. 20 and went to live at the Hotel Everett in Fark row. He brought his son, aged 6, and his daughter, 12 years old, with him. The children had a room scioloning his. A 10 o'clock yesterday morning the children went to their 10 o'clock yesterday morning the children went to their father's room, 46, to call him to breakfast. They knocked and could get no answer, so they called Edward Edwards, the porter. Edwards burst in the door. Nicholson was hanging dead from the bedoest at the head of the bed. A rope was around his neck and his head almost touched the floor. His feet were on the head. He had fastened the rope and then thrown himself off the bed. When the door was opened the children saw their failing and then they burst into tears.

Nicholson was a shor salesman. He worked for four-time and then they burst into tears.

Nicholson was a shor salesman. He worked for four-time years for Pewell Brouhers & Co. of 130 Duane street, but was discharged last September. He was next employed by S. & W. Mels of S. Warren street, but remained only two weeks. At the time of his suicide he was selling shoes on commission for the New York Shee Manufacturing Company of Lynn. Mrs. Nicholson came to Everett's Hotel when she heard of hef hubband's death. The remains will be turied by Nicholson's brother James of W. N. Seymour's hardware store, & Chatham square.
